Topic: Volcanoes of Arizona: location and types of volcanoes in Arizona, including the essociated rock types and interpreted style of eraption.

Located within the San Francisco Volcanic Field, Sunset Crater is one of the youngest cinder cone volcanoes in the U.S. It is famous for its colorful scoria deposits. It has a strombolian eruption style.

-Located at the north rim of the Grand Conyon, the Vinkanet Volcanic Field is made upof a series of cinder cones that produced lava flows, which poured into the Grand Conyon. It has an effusive eruption style.